Board President Sarah Fishing called the meeting to order. Seated with Fishing were District C Director Alice Murphy, District D Director Tom West, and District G Director Stephen Bush.

All joined in saying the Pledge of Allegiance; the board voted to approve the meeting agenda.

Three new directors were elected on Nov. 7, and one director was re-elected. The newly elected board members were present at the start of the special meeting but were not yet seated, including District A Director Neisha Balleck (two-year term), District B Director Ted Valerio, and District F Director Jody Hovde. Following the Pledge of Allegiance, Fishing announced the results of the

A VERY LONG COLORADO MARBLE GAME

By Bob Cox

COLORADO-President Abraham Lincoln had only recently been laid to rest following his assassination in April of 1865 when efforts began to erect a monument in his honor. Construction of a monument on the U. S. Capitol grounds in Lincoln's memory was authorized by the U. S. Congress in 1867, but documents from the National Archives show that money for the project was not authorized until 1911, when $2 million was dedicated to design and construction. Architect John Russell Pope's design was ultimately accepted, but things moved slowly--very slowly.

One of the most contentious debates over the building of the monument concerned just what kind of marble was to be used, and what the source of that marble would be. Colorado had a dog in the race. In the January 29, 1913 edition of the Montrose Daily Press an article, datelined Washington, read as follows:

DELTA HOMICIDE SUSPECT IN CUSTODY

Delta Police News Release

DELTA--On Nov. 24, 2023 at approximately 3:37 p.m. officers of the Delta Police Department were dispatched to the Four Seasons Motel and RV Park, located at 676 Hwy 50 #26 within the City of Delta. It was reported that two male subjects were involved in a physical altercation at that location.

Upon arrival, officers located an adult male subject laying on the ground. The subject was unresponsive and had no pulse. The officers and later, medical staff attempted life saving measures, but were unsuccessful. The subject was pronounced deceased at the scene from what was later determined to be multiple stab wounds.

Officers of the Delta Police Department were able to locate the suspect, 34-year-old Delta resident, Corbin Lovato in a nearby camper. Lovato was taken into custody. After being cleared by medical personnel, Lovato was transported and booked into the Delta County Jail for the charge of Murder in the 2nd Degree, a class 2 Felony. This investigation is ongoing, and the Delta Police Department has no further information to release at this time.

SAN MIGUEL POWER: STATEMENT ON MICROGRIDS FOR COMMUNITY RESILIENCE AND CLIMATE ACTION

Special to the Mirror

RIDGWAY--“When the Colorado Department of Local Affairs (DOLA) Microgrid for Community Resilience (MCR) planning grants were made available for local electric cooperatives like SMPA, several of our communities asked us to apply on their behalf,” stated San Miguel Power Association (SMPA) Key Accounts Executive, Terry Schuyler.

Given that the towns of Silverton and Rico had both recently experienced significant winter power outages, and that the towns of Ophir and Ridgway were recognizing that they could benefit from added backup power sources, all four expressed an interest in the possibility of exploring dedicated, local microgrids to serve backup power in case of future outages.

So, what is a microgrid and how does it provide backup power?

DOLA defines a microgrid as a group of interconnected electric loads and distributed energy resources (such as a battery, solar array, wind or a fossil fuel generator) with clearly defined electrical boundaries that can function as a single, controllable entity with respect to the electric grid. Therefore, a microgrid can be connected to or disconnected from the electric grid to enable it to operate either in “grid-connected mode” or in “island mode.” When it isn’t receiving power from the grid, the microgrid can sustain power delivery while conditions, which may have caused the outage, improve or while repairs are made.

Microgrids can:

- Improve customer reliability.
- Increase resilience to grid disturbances.
- Help deploy zero-emissions energy sources.
- Reduce energy lost through transmission lines.
- Help manage power supply and demand.
- Improve grid resilience to extreme weather.

Recognizing what a benefit microgrids can be for rural communities, DOLA initiated the MCR grants to bolster community resilience. When the eight statewide MCR planning phase grant awards were announced, SMPA had won four of them.

In addition to emergency resiliency, microgrids provide another benefit that helps achieve what most community members have deemed a high priority—climate action. On a typical day,” explains Schuyler, “a microgrid that uses a photovoltaic (PV) array to collect abundant solar energy, storing it in a battery system, can deploy that electricity during the “peak,” when the energy is most valuable.” The energy industry calls this time period the “Peak” because it’s when most residential loads are at their highest, and overall dependence upon centralized fossil-fuel generated power is at its daily maximum. When a microgrid is used in this manner, it brings down the peak and reduces the need for fossil-fuel-generated energy, resulting in fewer emissions. “This unique feature of a microgrid allows greater levels of locally-produced renewable energy to be delivered when it is most economically advantageous to the hosting community as well as our entire cooperative membership, potentially deferring future pressure on rates,” Schuyler explained.

But a microgrid must exist locally, and this fact has brought about concerns from community members who were hesitant about SMPA moving forward with feasibility studies. Citing a variety of concerns, specific to the Ophir community, the General Assembly of Ophir recently voted “no” on a resolution to allow site access to town-owned property for the purposes of conducting this study. This has prompted discussions on possible alternative town resiliency solutions and a “pivot” on the MCR grant microgrid study.

“SMPA supports the will of the communities and understands that there’s not a one-size-fits-all solution for every town,” says Schuyler. “We stand ready to work with the Town of Ophir to determine the next steps.” The feasibility study is the vehicle to explore these possibilities. The results do not require a commitment to proceed with any identified solution. Rather, they serve as a tool to help inform us of what is possible.

As the communities consider their energy future, SMPA will continue to work in partnership, to leverage unprecedented near-term State and Federal incentives and to explore options to advance community sustainability goals and enhance power reliability.

A winning planning grant proposal needs to result in the right fit for the communities.

AMERICAN LEGION RIDERS SEEK VOLUNTEERS TO MAKE WREATHS FOR GRAVESITES OF VETERANS

By Connie Williams

MONTROSE—Join other volunteers at Camelot Gardens Saturday, Dec. 9 at 9 a.m. to assemble wreaths for the veterans' gravesite wreath-laying ceremony. According to John Boughton, American Legion Riders commander, last year was the largest turnout of volunteers since the wreath-laying in Montrose began six years ago. The Riders coordinate the event with Camelot Gardens and are joined by volunteers from the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other organizations – military, civic and church.

Last year a large group of young missionaries from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints helped, adding to the speedy wrap-up of the wreath assembly process. It took approximately one hour to put the wreaths together.

Following the assembly this year, volunteers will fill pickup trucks with wreaths and will head for Grand View, Valley Lawn, and Cedar Creek cemeteries, with other volunteers following. There the wreaths will be placed with honors on the veteran's graves.

Often the volunteers form a circle after the placing of the wreaths and say the names of those buried there.

"It's a way to honor those veterans and their service to our country," Boughton said, "We are appreciative for all they did, and for all the citizens in this community who will never forget that sacrifice."

Please join us for a sneak peak of the exciting new Ambulatory Care Center!

A VERY LONG COLORADO MARBLE GAME From pg 1

Fight Over Lincoln Memorial Temple Bill in Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.- The house today started a fight over the proposed marble Lincoln Memorial Temple here which promises to continue all afternoon and possible over until next "calendar Wednesday." The members were flooded with proposals to substitute other projects for the Greek temple, which is proposed by the bill.

There was good reason for Western Colorado residents to take notice of the process. The United Press made the point in a release printed in several newspapers in October of 1913:

COLORADO MARBLE IS BEST IN WORLD (BY UNITED PRESS) WASHINGTON, Oct. 7, 1913 — "Colorado produces the finest and whitest marble obtainable anywhere in the world," declares former President William H. Taft, in a letter to Senator John F. Shafroth of Colorado, defending the choice of Colorado marble for the Lincoln Memorial. Taft is chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Association and declares that the action in choosing Colorado marble needs no defense, since its use will result in the most beautiful memorial ever erected. Congressional delegations from Georgia and Alabama are making a determined fight to prevent the final use of Colorado marble and to substitute therefor (sic) Georgia marble. Senator Shafroth presented the Taft letter to Secretary Garrison.

Just two days later, the Delta Independent called attention to why the project was of importance to local residents:

The white marble of which the great $2,000,000 Lincoln Memorial temple is to be built on the banks of the Potomac in Washington is to come from the Sopris National Forest, Colorado. This is said to be the first great building in the east to be constructed of this stone, although much of it has been used as an interior finish in public buildings. In the west a notable example is found in the new federal building in Denver. While the marble quarries are in the midst of the national forest, they are on private land secured under the laws by which areas bearing deposits of building stone are disposed of by the government. Under the law, prospectors can locate and secure title to mineral deposits on the national forests just as they can on the open public domain. The marble company which owns the quarry is a large user of national forest timber in the working of its properties, situated near Marble, Colorado. The history of the company is said to be of considerable interest, as representing indomitable enterprise against difficulties. The country in which the marble deposits occur is extremely rough and precipitous, and for a long time was inaccessible because of a lack of transportation facilities. Large sums had to be expended before the stone could be got out and brought to market. Up to 1907, when the product first began to attract attention, it is said that $1,200,000 had been expended in developing the property.

After several more delays, many caused by World War I, the necessary marble was shipped and the project was finally completed. The Delta Independent had been following the construction closely over the years. On February 11, 1921 they published a picture of the completed Lincoln Memorial. The caption read:

The great Lincoln Memorial at Washington, costing about two and a half million dollars, is virtually completed and will likely be dedicated this year. Its architectural beauty impresses and inspires all who visit it, but big as it is, and beautiful as it is, it can only serve in its mute limited way to remind this nation in the centuries to come of the great spirit of the man whose memory it commemorates, the humble Abe Lincoln, American - born Feb. 12, 1809; died April 15, 1865.

But the game was far from over. Not long after the memorial was completed Congress approved a bill that provided for the burial and memorial of unidentified soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery. On November 11, 1921, the unknown soldier brought back from France was interred in the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The plans began to erect a fitting monument. It was nearly five years later that Congress approved funding to build the monument.

Once again, focus was placed on the quarry where the Lincoln Memorial marble was mined. The marble from the Yule Quarry, about 40 miles northeast of Paonia, Colorado, was considered to be some of the best marble in the world. The process began, but it was nearly a decade later that the 175-ton block of marble was shipped from Colorado to the Arlington site. Although the huge piece of marble displayed all the beauty that Yule marble is famous for, an almost invisible crack was present. The crack was noted in the early 1930s within a few years of the finishing and placement of the monument.

Over the next few decades there were several proposals to repair the crack. None of them were satisfactory. It seemed as though the only real answer was the replacement of the entire marble block. An article written by Dennis Ryan, which was published on the Arlington National Cemetery website in 1991, best explains some of the plans for replacement. In part, the article read:

A crack in the Tomb of the Unknowns will result in its replacement by a stone from the same quarry.

The Tomb of the Unknowns had its origins in an ancient seabed that is now a 300-foot-thick formation of marble high in the Colorado Rockies. Once again, it's time to return to that same mass of stone to replace the sacred monument.

Rex Loesby, operator of the Yule Quarry in Granite Colorado, asked to see the Tomb of the Unknowns up close when visiting Arlington National Cemetery in 1990. He arrived early in the morning before the Sentinels began their ritual. Officials granted Loesby such privilege because in 1931 his company provided the block of marble that became the Tomb. The mineral company president and quarry owner noticed cracks in the marble. "I said [to cemetery officials] 'we might have to think about replacing this one day,'" Loesby said. "When they first quarried the stone there was a crack, a small white line. Water gets in over the years and causes a crack [to grow]."

The efforts to replace the monument moved exceedingly slow. Even after a generous donation of $31,000 from John Haines of Glenwood Springs and offers of free transport from other sources, the final decision seemed to float in the background of a bureaucracy. Then, in 2003, it seemed the idea would finally become a reality. The quarry announced that they were mining a piece of marble that appeared to be of the quality needed. Visits to the quarry were made by several groups that year to see the interior workings of the quarry and to witness the huge block of marble slated for eventual shipment to Arlington. A press release from the cemetery in late June of 2003 stated:

WASHINGTON — The Tomb of the Unknowns, the memorial that honors unidentified American servicemen and women killed in battle and attracts millions of visitors annually, is being replaced after 72 years.

Visitors to the quarry in 2003 were shown the massive piece of marble that had only one more cut to be made before it could be moved and begin its transformation into a beautiful monument, but the game was nowhere near an end. Time and time again, promises were made; donations were made; plans for a 'back-up' piece of marble were announced and arrangements for transport seemed just days away. The Denver Post ran an article on August 17, 2008 that indicated that the marble was cut and was sitting outside the quarry, ready for shipment. The author of the article, Nancy Lofholm, had to update the information on May 7, 2016. More 'studies' were done, but the only thing that had progressed much was the size of the crack, which at one point even sprouted ugly black algae.

Memorial Day of 2023 has now come and gone. On November 14, 2023, Michael Robert Patterson placed the latest information on the Arlington National Cemetery website.

His article is headed, 'Unknowns Monument Will Be Replaced.' Not much different than headlines that have been published for nearly a century. In part the article read:

"Arlington Superintendent John C. Metzler Jr. said last week that cemetery officials decided to replace the stone after concluding that a 1989 cosmetic repair job — which cemetery historian Thomas Sherlock compared to fixing a bathtub with tile grout — had done nothing to conceal the problem and may have exacerbated it."

The article went on to explain that the exact cost of replacing the monument was not known, but could be between $500,000 and $1 million. As of today, the anticipation remains.

COACH'S CORNER: RYAN VOEHRINGER- MHS RED HAWKS BOYS BASKETBALL COACH

By Cliff Dodge

MONTROSE-The staccato sound of basketballs being pounded on the gymnasium floor ushers in a new season. Football helmets and shoulder pads have been stored away, and young men and women fire jump shots at basketball nets perched 12 feet above the Montrose Red Hawks gymnasium floor. Basketball is about to begin.

Varsity Basketball Coach Ryan Voehringer was asked to evaluate his team after just a few days of practice. "Well to be honest, we have only had everyone for two days because of the length of the football season. Gage Wareham and Jaxon Killen played the bulk of the minutes for us last year and they are transitioning to basketball, getting over the bumps and bruises from football so we are happy to have them back with us."

Voehringer then talked about the makeup of his squad. "We're young. We have three guys that have experience. Kaleb Ferguson, Killen and Wareham. The rest of the guys did not get a lot of experience. Kaleb Ferguson will be our leader. He is about 6 feet, 5 inches tall. He will be our leader, our go-to guy. Gage Wareham will be our point guard and these two guys will take us as far as they can. Jaxon Killen is a little dinged up from football but I am certain he will be ready."

After mentioning the seniors, Voehringer focused on the rest of the squad. "Our juniors are Ferguson, Cooper Ross, Brecken Hutto and Brody Cooling. I neglected to mention Brecken Hutto who also has a load of experience and will be a part of the leadership of this team along with Ferguson, Wareham, Killen and Kattner."

Coach Voehringer said that the team is continuing to work on their identity. "Obviously we are going to be a team that defends. We are not going to be a high-powered offense that scores tons of points so we have to be able to guard and play tight, stingy defense," he said.

Offensively the go-to guy will be junior Kaleb Ferguson, Voehringer said, "Everybody knows that so we will need to have the rest of the crew step up, hit shots from long distance, and make this team a team."

Voehringer explained that this team will play a straight man-to-man defense which will be the Red Hawks bread and butter.

"Our JV team will be very good. We also have a really good freshman class. We are suiting up three freshmen on the JV squad, all will play guard, and one perhaps will play inside and outside. There are six or seven freshman that I have high hopes for."

The issue of scheduling comes up every year. The Red Hawks first eleven games are on the road. The Red Hawks don't play a home game until mid-January.

Voehringer said, "With our new Athletic Director Brad Schafer coming in we will have a lot more home games next year and going forward. Mr. Schafer is a basketball guy and we will host a tournament here in Montrose next year, so things are looking up."

The issue of competition came up in the discussion. Coach Voehringer then let it all hang out. "Our league will be much improved this year. There is a new coach in Grand Junction and a new coach at Fruita. Both of them are very good coaches. Durango had a 6-foot, 6-inch freshman transfer move in. The league is going to be much improved. Fruita is probably the best team in the league. They have a new coach and have multiple kids who can play, so it is going to be a dog fight to the finish. If I had to pick right now, I would say Fruita will be the team to beat."

When asked about his team in the early stages of the season, Voehringer said, "I like these guys who listen and work hard; they will run through a wall for me. We are not the most talented team but we have kids that play hard and want to win rather than having a bunch of athletes who don't want to work hard, so I will take what I have and we will be a team together."

On any given night in high school sports, especially basketball, you just never know what is going to happen. "On a cold Saturday night in a steamy gymnasium, anything can happen and usually it does. We have a great community, and great community support and this place gets rocking. That's what fun about high school sports. With 16, 17-year-old kids you never know from day in, day out what is going to happen. My job is to have the kids prepared, put them in a position to win, and then see what happens."

COACH'S CORNER: STEVE SKIFF- RED HAWKS GIRLS BASKETBALL COACH

By Cliff Dodge

MONTROSE-Out with the old season, and in with the new. Gone are the heavy hitters on the volleyball team and in with the three-point shooters on the girls' basketball team. Dribble, fake, shoot the jumper, fall back and play defense.

When head coach Steve Skiff was asked what he had in the way of players and talent, he said, "We are very excited for what we have. We have a very athletic team, perhaps not the biggest team in the world but I think we will get up and down the floor extremely well. I am excited about the energy that we play at. We may look a little different than we have in past years, but I am excited for this group. We have three really good seniors in Taygen, Kenzie and Haven. We have some good young kids to go with them. I think it's huge to have Maggie Legg and Mayce Oberg being sophomores. They have kind of gone through it. They know what to expect now. That freshman year was such a learning curve that I think we are ready to go. They're excited, I'm excited so it's a good mix."

The girls' program has more participation this season than in years past. More than 50 girls turned out to try out for one of the three teams (varsity, JV and freshmen) to be fielded by Montrose High School. Skiff said, "These are the best numbers that I have had since we have been here. Give credit to my assistant coaches, Justin Griffin and Alex Matlock--he's a new coach for our C team this year, and he really got a bunch of girls to come out and participate. I think we have 14 freshman in the program and we have a dozen sophomores in the program, so we are excited that we have not only a good group at the varsity level but we can also build on these different levels as well."

When asked about the imbalance in the scheduling of home and away games for the girls' team, Skiff was philosophical in his answer. "Does it bother me? The answer would be yes. However Coach Voehringer and I are used to this. I think it's going to change. I am really excited with our new athletic director Bradd Schafer coming in because he is going to really work hard to balance our schedule out a lot more. Our schedule this year is loaded with road games early and sometimes that is ok too. With a team that is young and somewhat inexperienced, sometimes being on the road is a good thing, relieving the pressure of playing in front of a home crowd and all that goes with it. We have to beat these teams and there is nothing better than winning on their turf."

When asked to describe his team and their style of play, Coach Skiff said, "We are really going to use our athleticism this year. I think you will see us getting up and down the floor a little more. I think you will see us defensively extend a press or two. We don't have the outside shooters we have had in the past, but I think we will be very good at flashing, driving to the basket, so we will use these skills to really get our offense going."

Defense has long been a staple of Steve Skiff coached teams. "Our defensive staple is man to man. We are going to throw a lot of different things at teams this year; having a more experienced group, we are able to change things up and confuse people. We will be man-to-man but will also pop into some zones and do different things along the way."

When asked about the toughest parts of the coaching job, Skiff did not hesitate.

"It is always difficult to make the cuts. That is probably the worst day of coaching, that and the day the season ends. It's really tough because I tell the kids to just go out and do your very best and let the chips fall where they may. Kids show up with a great attitude and give it their best effort. It's always tough to figure out who those last cuts are going to be. We are excited with the group that we have. I think this group is very worthy. All three teams are going to be very successful this year."

When asked about the fact that Coach Voehringer and Coach Skiff both returned home to teach and coach, Skiff said, "I grew up in Montrose, graduated from Montrose High School in 1996. I am proud to be coaching right here at home. Coach Voehringer and I talk about this all the time, coaching at our home town high school."

NEW RE1J SCHOOL BOARD DIRECTORS A REFRESHING CHANGE

Editor,

New members of the RE1J school board have been sworn in and what a refreshing change. Two new members, Niesha Balleck and Ted Valerio actually had the courage to step away from the group-think, everybody must vote the same way without any discussion, that we saw so often with the previous members, and vote for new leadership on the board. I congratulate them and encourage them to continue to think independently and bring constructive discussion of issues considered by the board and vote to represent their constituents' best interests. Keep up the good work!

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE ANNOUNCES ENTRANCE FEE-FREE DAYS FOR 2024

Special to the Mirror

WASHINGTON, DC – During this festive season of joy and giving, the National Park Service presents the entrance fee-free dates for 2024. On these days, and throughout the year, all are invited to experience the magic and wonder of national parks.

“National parks are places that awaken senses, inspire curiosity, encourage reflection, and foster joy,” National Park Service Director Chuck Sams said. “The entrance fee-free days expand opportunities for people to visit their national parks and experience the beauty and history of our country.”

The entrance fee-free days for 2024 are:
Jan. 15 – Martin Luther King, Jr. Day
April 20 – First Day of National Park Week
June 19 – Juneteenth
Aug. 4 – Great American Outdoors Day
Sept. 28 – National Public Lands Day
Nov. 11 – Veterans Day

National parks are wallet-friendly options year-round. More than 300 of the country's more than 400 national parks are free to enter every day. Also, with at least one national park in every state and most major metropolitan areas, they provide close-to-home choices for recreation and inspiration. Detailed information about things to do and see in each park is available on NPS.gov and the NPS app.

The cost to enter parks with entrance fees ranges from $10 to $35. The funds remain in the National Park Service and 80-100% stays in the park where collected. The revenue supports visitor services, including enhancing accessibility, restoring wildlife habitat, and providing ranger programs, and adding or upgrading restrooms, campgrounds, trails, and other facilities.

The fee waiver for the fee-free days applies only to National Park Service entrance fees and does not cover amenity or user fees for camping, boat launches, transportation, special tours, or other activities.

The annual $80 America the Beautiful National Parks and Federal Recreational Lands Pass covers entry at more than 2,000 federal recreation areas, including all national parks. There are also free or discounted passes available for current members of the U.S. military and their dependents, military veterans, Gold Star Families, fourth grade students, individuals with permanent disabilities, and senior citizens.

Other federal land management agencies offering their own fee-free days in 2024 are the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Forest Service, and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

OPINION/EDITORIAL: LETTERS

IF DEMOCRATS GAIN CONTROL, WE WILL ALL BE COMRADES

Editor:

I find it puzzling that people don't always act logically, or in their best interest. I continue to be amazed that various groups continue to vote for Democrats whose policies are detrimental to those very people. The most obvious example is American Jews, most of whom totally support the Democrat party, even though that party, especially its left wing, is virulently anti-Semitic and anti-Israel. In Congress, despite the fact that Trump was the most pro-Israel president in history, the anti-Trumpists are led by Jewish Democrats Schiff, Schumer, and Nadler. In the 2020 election, 70 to 80% of American Jews voted for Democrats. Meanwhile, Biden continues Obama's practice of pretending friendship with Israel while simultaneously stabbing it in the back. Perhaps because the last two generations of American Jews have not experienced the hardships of anti-Semitism, they felt comfortable shifting to the left, striving to blend in and be less "Jewish." After October 7, domestic anti-Semitism erupted in America. Overnight, it became unsafe for Jews around the world, including in America, to openly display their Jewish heritage. Reason would dictate that these leftist Jews, having tasted the bitterness of hatred toward them and having personally felt what their grandparents were all too familiar with, will wake up and oppose their oppressors - the Democrat party.

Similarly baffling is the support black Americans give to the Democrat party. There is one constant in America, and that is Democrats' toxic effect on blacks. From the time the party was formed it became the slavery party. After the Civil War, it became the Jim Crow party, with the KKK as their enforcers. When the Civil Rights Act came up for a vote, Democrats opposed it vociferously. Then LBJ came up with the clever idea of pretending to support blacks to get their vote. Nothing has changed from that time, with disastrous effects on American black voters. Since 1964 Democrat policies that are ostensibly intended to benefit blacks have, instead, impoverished them, broken up their families, ravaged their communities with unchecked crime, and left their children poorly educated. Meanwhile, any conservative black voter who dares challenge the Democrats' destructive policies is re-defined to be not black enough. Thankfully, American blacks are (slowly) coming to realize Dem policies toward them are "Jim Crow with a smiley face."

Two other pieces of the Democrat coalition are women and the LGBT community. Unfortunately, when the goals of those two groups differ, women are thrown to the bottom of the barrel by Democrats. Even though women have been at the forefront of fighting for fair treatment and social acceptance of gays, the LGBT community, in the name of the "T" faction, has chosen to target women --- largely through their daughters. The Democrat party totally supports men identifying as women dominating women's sports and using those daughters' locker rooms --- even when serious physical injury is inflicted on the female victims. Meanwhile, all the left-leaning women's rights groups are embarrassingly totally silent.

Those same women's rights groups, including at the United Nations, are also strangely silent in the face of mass rape, torture, murder, and kidnapping of unarmed civilian women of all ages by Hamas. Democrats like to feign support of women's rights, but only if those women's rights are not in conflict with any other groups in their coalition. In this case, the pro-Hamas terrorist wing of the Democratic party easily trumps women's rights if those women are Jewish. Rape as a weapon of war then becomes acceptable.

Many Hispanics have traditionally been Democrat voters, but are abandoning that party in droves. They are becoming aware that opening our southern border to invasion has a direct negative impact on Americans, including Hispanics. Because many are small business people, they are becoming more aware of Biden's anti-small business policies. Most are family oriented and many are practicing Christians, and are seeing how anti-Christian and anti-family Dem policies are. Most love their country and are disgusted with Democrats' "America Last" actions.

Most puzzling are those registered Democrats who want so badly to believe their party is still the party of JFK and Martin Luther King, Jr. If JFK were alive today and still espousing the ideas evident in his presidency, he would be a Republican. JFK was a staunch anti-communist / anti-socialist. He espoused lower tax rates, was pro-life, served our country valiantly in uniform, was not ashamed to be patriotic, was totally in favor of protecting our First Amendment, and, along with his brother, took on union and government corruption.

These everyday Democrats desperately want to believe their party still believes in those mainstream Democrat ideals of 60 years ago --- in the face of overwhelming evidence to the contrary. Likewise, MLK, Jr. would turn over in his grave if he were to see the Democrat Party of today, which now wants everyone to be judged by the color of their skin. If you are white, you are innately a racist oppressor, and if you are black, you are a helpless victim of those racist whites. These loyal Democrat voters want so desperately to believe Hunter and Joe Biden have not received multi-million dollar payoffs from our enemies, including communist China; that our borders are not really totally open; that their party really doesn't advocate and even celebrate unrestricted abortion through nine months of pregnancy; that our DOJ and FBI have not been totally corrupted and weaponized against Trump and his supporters; that our universities and media have not become little more than Marxist propaganda centers; that many of our school unions and school boards don't really want parental rights eliminated; that Dems don't really want to exacerbate racial tensions, and defund and demonize the police at the same time they totally disarm every law abiding citizen; that Dem policies have not really destroyed those inner cities controlled by Democrats, and much more.

What these traditional Democrats don't realize is that if Democrats were to succeed in gaining total control, traditional Democrats will not be part of the new and very small ruling elite. They will fare no better in the new socialist "utopia" than the staunch conservatives who fought the destruction. We will all be equal; equally poor, equally oppressed, equally miserable --- and equally submissive to the ruling elite.

We will all be comrades.

FORMER SHERIFF RICK DUNLAP ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR BOCC DISTRICT 3 SEAT

MONTROSE—At noon on Nov. 27, approximately three dozen citizens assembled in front of the courthouse to hear former Montrose County Sheriff Rick Dunlap announce his candidacy for the Montrose Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) District 3 seat. Currently the seat is held by County Commissioner Roger Rash, who is term limited.

Said Dunlap, who worked for five years in Code Enforcement for the City of Montrose and served 12 years as Montrose County Sheriff, “I’ve been living in Montrose for 42 years. For me that makes it easy to start into the [commissioner] position on day one. Thank you for coming and helping us make the campaign a success...God Bless.”

In a sidebar conversation with Dunlap he said, “I retired in 2019, but I’ve always tried to stay connected and active in the community. I’m on the board of West Montrose Sanitation District and the Welcome Home Alliance for Veterans.

“I serve on the Grace Community Council and during the school year I volunteer at Jim’s Diner at the church, where we serve Wednesday lunch to high school kids. This last week we fed 130 kids.”

LONG JOURNEY STARTS WITH SINGLE STEP: CITIZENS CLIMATE LOBBY MOVES TO REDUCE GREENHOUSE GASES, KEEP OUR VALLEY BEAUTIFUL

Editor:

Citizens Climate Lobby of Montrose CO would like to spread the word about how thankful we are for the progress made in reducing greenhouse gases (GHG) and recognize there is a long way to go. Maps of solar large-scale utility show the US has built solar fields that in total produce nearly 160 gigawatts, more than half of which is utility-scale. 358 gigawatts — is forecast to be installed in the U.S. by the end of 2030.

In Colorado there are 50 large scale sites producing 1MW or more. In the Uncompahgre Valley the Garnet Mesa utility scale solar project will produce enough energy to energize 18K homes. Medium size solar projects line the City of Montrose 64kw solar array at the Safety Complex and the City of Delta's proposed microgrid will generate more renewable, non GHG electricity. On the smallest of all scales is the generation of energy on home rooftops that is not accounted for in DMEA's energy profile.

The effect of rooftop solar decreases the demand for electricity and avoids the transmission loss of energy as it is used at the home. But if we continue to be creative and productive on many scales, we can achieve the reduction of GHG in the Uncompahgre Valley.

We have a long way to reach Net Zero. Transportation is another sector we need to inform ourselves on and to pursue alternatives. Unfortunately the State of Colorado just reported that, as a state, we will not meet the goal of a 25% reduction in GHG in the transportation sector by 2025. Much work will have to be done to have a significant reduction in GHG emissions in transportation.

Alas, predictions for our future are not very clear. There are predictions that we will push past warming our globe by more than 2.7 degrees Fahrenheit. There are also predictions that once we hit net-zero we will not be contributing more carbon to the atmosphere and the warming will slow down, eventually stop and our globe could start to cool. It all depends on us and how we handle the future.

We Thank You for all your efforts in talking with friends to get them to do the right thing, to encourage our local, state, and federal governments to pursue the decrease of GHG. A long journey starts with a single step- fortunately we have taken many in our journey to keep the Uncompahgre Valley beautiful and a pleasant place to live.

DUNLAP AVOIDS SPEAKING TO THE #1 ISSUE FACING THE COUNTY COMMISSION---THE MIS-USE OF THE PUBLIC SAFETY SALES TAX!

Editor:

The number 1 issue in our county was not addressed by Rick Dunlap as he announced his candidacy for County Commissioner this past week. In the MDP candidate Dunlap went on and on without mentioning the ongoing misappropriation of the Public Safety Sales Tax to other far less important purposes than PUBLIC SAFETY.

If I were him, having contributed to the practice of that MISAPPROPRIATION during his tenure as sheriff at the PSST's inception, I would have stayed away from that issue too. Simply put, we the taxpayers put forth significant effort to get that PSST passed by the voters and then he failed to make the MCSO better equipped or trained by using THE TAX MONEY for the purpose intended. Instead he chose to return a large amount of the funds to the BOCC to miss-use it as they pleased and thereby set the stage for the present BOCC to continue the practice. And so. in spite of the availability of more than adequate funding and it being his responsibility (and in fact obligation to do so) he failed to provide to his deputies a very long list of safety equipment including, but not limited to, safety vest 'armor' plates and tasers. These items, and more, of life saving equipment had to be provided by the incoming and present sheriff when they should have already been in use. It is my considered opinion that failure to provide such items IMMEDIATELY UPON THE AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS constituted malfeasance of performance and spurious leadership.

In the Montrose Daily Press (MDP) Commissioner Candidate Dunlap announced to his public that "his experience as an elected county official" would enable him to 'hit the ground running' the first day on the job and that 'ALL I WANT TO DO IS TO SERVE YOU.' Both of these statements are meaningless 'pap' as his experience in elected positions (as Sheriff) has no relation to the shared administration of a large Colorado county. My opinion is 'serving the electorate' means he will justify the miss-appropriation of the PSST money he fostered in his past elected position by continuing the practice during his tenure as a commissioner.

Remember voters that "Ignorance is to continue to do something that has failed, EXPECTING DIFFERENT OUTCOME!"

In most of our BOCC elections we elect people who have never shown what they are capable of or stand for. Whether the candidate will turn out good or bad (in this case, for the people of Montrose County) is highly speculative.

In the case of County Commissioner Candidate (CCC) Rick Dunlap we have had the opportunity to observe his behavior over fifteen years and at least in the aforementioned case what we have seen is not evidence of sound decision making FOR THE COMMUNITY.

OPINION/EDITORIAL: LETTERS

MEDICARE ADVANTAGE (MA) IS NOT MEDICARE AND IT IS NOT AN ADVANTAGE

To the editor:

We are in the midst of open enrollment for Medicare. Seniors and the disabled are being inundated by the hard selling booths, ads and junk mail for Medicare Advantage (MA)—it is NOT Medicare and it is NOT an advantage. Too many people find this out when they are denied care that would have been covered under traditional Medicare with a gap plan.

The goal of the insurance companies that provide these plans is to maximize profit by denying care. Investigations into claim denials have repeatedly shown that these profiteers refuse to pay for medications and procedures covered by Medicare — denials that cause unnecessary illness, suffering and even death.

These companies are also ripping off taxpayers, by turning in exaggerated or completely false diagnosis codes (a practice known “upcoding”). Several companies, including United and Cigna, have been sued or fined, or agreed to large settlements, over this practice. (<https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/cigna-group-pay-172-million-resolve-false-claims-act-allegations>) (<https://www.nytimes.com/2017/05/19/business/dealbook/unitedhealth-sued-medicare-overbilling.html>)

As a physician, I often saw patients facing life-threatening lack of coverage after they had been lured by the false promises of MA plans. Don't let yourself be one of them.

US GOVERNMENT SHOULD MASSIVELY INCREASE FEDERAL FUNDING FOR CELLULAR-AGRICULTURE DEVELOPMENT

To the editor,

I was excited to read the German government is investing €38 million in 2024 toward the alternative-protein transition. This will include funds for cultivated-meat research. For those who don't know, cultivated meat is grown from livestock cells, without slaughter. It has the potential to reduce our greenhouse-gas emissions, pandemic risk, and the suffering we inflict on animals. So as not to fall behind, the United States government should massively increase federal funding for cellular-agriculture development. America can lead the world in creating a more sustainable, healthy, and compassionate food system. Readers should encourage their legislators to support this effort. It's the right thing to do morally and for the sake of our country's position on the global stage.

TENETS OF LEFT-WING TOTALITARIANISM ARE CONFORM, COMPLY, SUBMIT, AND OBEY

Editor:

A local Left wing newspaper -- GJ Daily Sentinel 5 October 2023 -- recently published an article to expose the Indian schools of a hundred years ago for guiding American Indian children to adopt the melting pot culture and ways of Americans.

"The schools were opened across the country as part of a Bureau of Indian Affairs policy to assimilate Native Americans into white society. And while operators of the schools were supposed to get permission from families to board students, they often didn't, ripping students away from their parents..."

The first fundamental was to separate the children from their parents in order to break the family influence to preserve the old tribal ways.

The decades-long goal by our modern Leftist education establishment to destroy the melting pot culture and ways of Americans, and re-institute tribal ways by pitting groups of Americans against each other uses the same first fundamental, separating children from their parents. Far Left extremist school board candidates distinguished themselves by opposing parents' power to choose what school would educate their children. It was the fundamental of this election. The Leftists are supported by big money extremists and your tax money laundered through "nonprofits".

Now we have a headline in the Montrose Daily Press, "Trafficking doesn't look like you think it does".

Well yes, it turns out that it does.

"To prosecute sex trafficking of adults, force, fraud, or coercion must be provable, although that isn't so when it comes to children, who cannot legally consent to any kind of sexual conduct."

Our school establishment and Library Board are adamant that they are entitled to engage children in any sexual contact that is their ever more extreme fashion, without any legal consent.

Police still make arrests on child pornography charges, but there are no arrests for child molestation or exploitation by members of the virulent anti-Christian, anti-traditional-American education establishment.

The ultra-Left extremist "Educators" and Librarians have free rein to engage minors in sexual conversation and activities and guide them to sexual mutilation without their parents' consent, and call parents who wish to protect their children from such depredation Domestic Terrorists. There is no sign that police and DAs have any investigations or intent to protect families.

COMMUNITY OBITUARIES

ROBERT DUVAL JACKSON

In loving memory of our dear father, Robert Duval Jackson.

Ninety-eight years ago, on July 18th, 1925, in Denver, Colorado, a remarkable man came into this world. Born to the late John and Gladys Jackson, Robert was a devoted brother to Esther Montgomery, Betty Frasier, and Margaret Hammit, who preceded him in death. In his lifetime, he was blessed with three children—Ronald Roe from Montrose, Colorado, Carolyn Gene Ethridge-Taggart from Montrose, Colorado, and Barbara Jackson from Coos Bay, Oregon. His son Ronald left this world before him, but his daughters Carolyn and Barbara carry on his spirit.

Robert's love story began on May 11th, 1944, when he married the love of his life, Dorothy Gene McCombs. Their union was a source of joy and strength until Dorothy's life was tragically cut short on September 27th, 1974. Together, they navigated the journey of life, facing its challenges hand in hand. A proud Navy veteran, Robert served as an American hero during World War II. His dedication to his country was matched only by his commitment to family. A businessman, contractor, and broker, he wore many hats throughout his career, but the one he cherished most was that of a father, which he was remarkable at.

Robert was a devout member of the Episcopal Church and an active participant in the Elks Lodge, embodying the principles of service and community. His faith and involvement in these organizations were integral parts of his life.

Beyond his professional and community contributions, Robert embraced life with passion. His hobbies included swimming, hunting, fishing, flying his plane, and restoring vintage vehicles. His zest for life was contagious, leaving an indelible mark on those who shared in his adventures.

Robert Duval Jackson will be laid to rest on December 5th, 2023, at 10 a.m. MT at Crippin Chapel, 802 E Main St., Montrose, CO 81401. As two loving daughters, we celebrate the life of our father—a man whose kindness, strength, and love will forever echo in our hearts.

May he rest in peace. Crippin Funeral Home of Montrose is assisting the family.

RONALD ROBERT HANSEN

RONALD ROBERT HANSEN died peacefully in his sleep on November 26th, 2023 at Grand Villa Assisted Care in Grand Junction Colorado at the age of 86 . He is survived by his wife Arlene of 64 years of marriage and three children. Robert, Betty and Frank along with nine grand grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren. Born in Brooklyn New York his Father (Hans) and mother (Winifred) moved to Burr Ridge Illinois where they built a home to raise their family. As an avid sports fan his favorites were baseball, bowling, drag racing and table tennis which he all excelled in. Ron worked for Jays Foods in Chicago for thirty-six years. Then in retirement he liked working at Funway part time along with volunteering at a local food bank when in Montrose Colorado. Ron and Arlene's dream of retiring to Colorado came in 1998 when they left Illinois to start a new adventure in their life. Since then, they enjoyed square dancing, golf, seniors' softball (the best third baseman ever!) while also making many new friends while members of the Elks Lodge in Montrose. They also enjoyed every visit from their children over the years, even snowmobiling! Dad never said much, being a passive man, to us kids. You could tell he wanted to say more but instead always expressed how proud he is of his children to many others. This past thanksgiving he was asked, "what are you thankful for Ron" his response -MY FAMILY- that says it all. Crippin Funeral Home of Montrose is assisting the family.

YOUR BRAIN ON NATURE –HYGGE FOR THE HOLIDAYS

By Lauren Hall Ruddell, Ph.D.

Greetings Mirrorites!

Hygge (pronounced hue-gaah) is a Danish word that has no American translation, except for maybe ‘coziness.’ It’s a way to create an environment that is pleasing, calming, and memory-inducing. You should taste it, smell it, feel it, hear it. Seventy-one percent of Danes said that they experience the most hygge in their own homes. It seems the Danes have found ways to bring the outdoors, indoors, with style.

One hygge tool that is meant to encompass every sense except taste is that of including lots of items made of wood. The Danes have wooden floors, bookshelves, and tables. Even wooden children’s toys have become popular again in recent years. Wood makes us feel close to nature; it is simple and natural, safe and familiar, while also evocative. A real double whammy for coziness is furniture with curvilinear forms. Sharp edges and 90-degree corner angles were all the rage once, but no longer. We now know that “curvilinear forms resulted in significantly stronger ‘pleasure’ ratings than the rectilinear forms.” (Dazkir et al, 2011). Another research team found that wood had a more calming effect on certain areas of the brain’s pre-frontal cortex than either marble or tile, and that stainless steel, like aluminum, decreased relaxation and felt unpleasant to the test subjects.

Maximizing warm light, natural light, and window space is another critical element. Hygge experts suggest you set up your ‘Hyggeekrog’, or ‘nook’, near a window. At night, or on dark, stormy days, warm light, often from fireplaces or candles, is a key feature of hyggelig (the adjective form of “hygge”) places. Humans are more relaxed and in better moods in places lit with the sort of golden light produced by fires and candles. People tend to get along better with others and think more creatively under warm light—and creative thinking is regularly handy when people are spending a lot of time in close proximity to one another. Research has also shown that gazing into a fire can help with cognitive restoration, which is important after a day spent doing focused work. The Heraclitean motion of ‘always changing yet always the same’ as exhibited by candles, fireplaces, and flowing water is both mesmerizing and soothing, and has been reported to improve concentration and memory while also enhancing patience and self-control. Speaking of candles, researchers have found that lots of candlelight that emits aromas of lavender, lemon, or vanilla is very calming and reassuring to the stressed-out holiday host.

Truly hyggelig spaces should therefore feature lots of different natural materials. And as mentioned above, attention should also be paid to geometry. There are often lots of curves in truly hyggelig spaces, as there are in nature, where extreme linearity is the exception rather than the rule. If this feels like something that you think might be beneficial for you and your family, and is even a little bit practical, then some suggestions below may help you begin to create that feeling.

-Keep it Natural - Natural materials are the simplest way to bring the gifts of nature inside your home. As mentioned, solid, well-crafted wood furniture, wood floor boards, paintings reminiscent of sea and sky, soft knitted throws and lap rugs are all great choices, and except for the hardwood flooring, pretty affordable. Habitat Restore in Montrose always has some awesome used furniture selections at a bargain price. If you have some really nice wood furniture, keep it highly polished and dust free, and if there are sharp corners, try a natural fiber throw over one side to soften the lines.

-Keep light in as well. I have a particularly dark hallway that has always depressed me to look at. A friend just gifted me with a huge oil painting of Tuscany wine country that is full of light, and I will be mounting it in that dark hallway with a battery-powered art light above it for illumination. This is my big contribution to hygge this year!

-Plants with huge leaves are now all the rage for both hygge and dopamine décor modes. You can't go wrong with a philodendron for either purpose, plus they are easy to maintain. More on dopamine décor below.

-Keep it Human - Hygge is all about creating an atmosphere that fosters good feelings, but the heart of Scandinavian design, functionality for socializing is important too.

To dig into the heart of hygge, create social spaces that don't include screens, whether they are TV, computer, tablet, or phone. Hygge is all about being in the moment and connecting meaningfully and mindfully with what is in front of you, both in terms of nature, and with friends and family.

-Some folks find that stress is not a huge problem in winter, but depression is. Although I still highly recommend a hygge approach somewhere in your dwelling, you might want to experiment with the current craze called 'dopamine décor'.

This may involve funky memorabilia that gives you pleasant recollections, or wild wallpaper or paint jobs (Barbie pink is really trendy right now.) The intention is to boost energy and arousal levels in a good way. Plenty of whimsical citrus-scented candles will assist in sensory stimulation and fighting the blues. And if you plan on entertaining, dopamine décor in the dining area will influence guest's perceptions of food and wine excellence. A study led by psychologist Lee Chambers and some of the UK's foremost interior designers tested participant's perceptions of the same wine across three interior environments - an eclectic interior filled with color, shape, and patterns inspired by the dopamine décor trend (Energetic), a calming space with natural elements (Relaxed) and a space deliberately designed with a lack of interior elements or fittings (Neutral). I was surprised to read that tasters preferred the wine served in the dopamine décor studio, feeling it was a superior and even more expensive wine than that which was served to them in the other settings, although it was the same wine. I believe I would have found the relaxed condition more conducive to my perceptions of wine quality and expense since I favor sipping wine in dark wood-paneled rooms with classical music in the background. But apparently other folks would disagree, so when entertaining persnickety guests who tend to find fault with the victuals and beverages offered, temporary holiday dopamine décor may help keep you energized and upbeat while convincing them that your holiday fare this year is the best ever!

-Happy decorating, whatever you choose.

DELTA HEALTH CHAPLAIN'S FOURTH ANNUAL ST. LUKE'S AWARD

Special to Art & Sol

DELTA – The Delta Health Volunteer Chaplains hosted their fourth annual Delta Health Chaplain's St. Luke's Recognition Awards on October 25, honoring and celebrating healthcare professionals who consistently demonstrate exceptional compassion towards patients, families, and colleagues.

Inspired by St. Luke, renowned as the author of the Biblical books of Luke and Acts, and presumed to be educated as a physician, the St. Luke's awards honor caregivers, nurses, physicians, and hospital staff for their outstanding efforts in healing the mind, body, and spirit.

This year's five nominees—Susan Retherford, Glenda Gallegos, Jennifer Peed, Jody Roeber, and Shanna Baker—were recognized for going above and beyond in showing compassion and promoting a healing environment. They exemplify dedication to their profession by meeting patients and staff where they are, incorporating their faith and calling into their service.

Of these nominees, two winners were chosen, Susan Retherford from Nutrition Services and Jody Roeber from Administration, each receiving the prestigious Healing Hands statue/award. Jody's 30 years of unwavering service to Delta County and her ability to create a healing environment were highlighted in her nomination. Susan, recognized by three individuals from different departments, stood out for her kindness, attention to individual needs, and her profound commitment to her role.

Jody's letter of nomination highlighted her dedication to the hospital and community. "She has an innate ability to foster a healing environment, always striving to meet patients, staff and the community where they're at. This exceptional quality has not only uplifted countless individuals during challenging times but has also set a precedent for compassionate care within our institution...Jody's faith plays a pivotal role in her service. It's evident in her interactions that she views her profession not just as a job, but as a genuine calling, a purpose-driven path to serve others selflessly.

Susan's nomination letters all recognized her kindness, attention to patients and their families' individual needs and going above and beyond in a profound way. One stated that, "Susan has a contagious smile and laugh. She will walk from the Oncology building to the kitchen ten times a day because she takes her job seriously. Everyone matters and she is so proud of everyone that gets to ring the Bell. And we're proud to have her work with us."

During the ceremony, Interim CEO and Chief Legal Officer, Julie Huffman expressed gratitude for the work of our hospital chaplains. "All of you provide emotional and spiritual care but your role is much more complex than that. You're often tasked as acting as a go-between, between patients and providers," said Huffman. "You advocate for the patient to medical staff. You help alleviate fears related to the medical industry and hospital environment and medical processes, and you offer comfort and guide people who are experiencing their toughest trials. We are honored by the work that you do and we are truly grateful.

Concluding the ceremony, Huffman presented the volunteer Chaplains with a wooden harvest bowl as a token of appreciation, drawing inspiration from Luke 10:2, "The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into the harvest field."

The fourth annual St. Luke's Chaplain Service Awards were a great reminder of the compassionate, quality care that the volunteer chaplains continue to provide. It was also a way to honor the staff of Delta Health for their work in providing remarkable care in a healing environment.

MARY ANN CROWE WINS FISCHER POETRY PRIZE

Special to the Mirror

TELLURIDE-The Telluride Institute is proud to announce the winner of the 26th Annual Fischer Prize for Poetry: Mary Ann Crowe of New Mexico for her poem, "Missing Daughters of Chicagoua" which first appeared in After Hours Summer 2023 as a Mary Blinn Prize finalist.

"In addition to the $1,000 cash award, Crowe will be appearing on our monthly zoom poetry reading, Bardic Trails, on the first Tuesday in April," said Talking Gourds director Art Goodtimes. "And her winning poem is posted on the Talking Gourds website."

Five outstanding finalists will receive $250 each: past Fischer finalist Partridge Boswell of Vermont for "Ode to a Bee on the Small of Your Back," Eileen Hale of California for "The Closing Crack," Ken Haas of California for "The Cypress," Sandra Gustin of Texas for "Life of Jays" and Philip Rösel Baker of East Anglia (UK) for "She Caught His Arm." Their poems and bios are also posted on the Talking Gourds website.

Judge Deborah Kelly of Boulder praised the high quality of the submissions this year and noted, "I chose Missing Daughters of Chicagoua because the poem explores an unusual set of experiences and relationships while raising questions, questions about the definite and indefinite racial identities of two women and how these changed over time, how their lapsed friendship continues to trouble the speaker's mind. The poem brings us to times and places by way of detail, the tone amplified by news-making events and intimate memories. The poem gives us cause to care."

She added, "I also want to praise Ode to a Bee on the Small of Your Back, the next finalist and one with a different approach. I want to praise the care with which the poet chooses observations, chooses every word, and the deliberate structure of the verses. The conclusion is both surprising and relatable to many. This is a skillful work of art. It offers intimacy and insight in ways similar to poems by Dickinson."

The Fischer Prize is awarded annually to poets around the world writing in English.

Past Fischer winners include Anna Scotti, Michelle Bitting, Devreaux Baker and Ja'net Danelo of California, Jonathan Greenhouse of New Jersey and Carlos Andrés Gómez of New York.

"Our national poetry contests are the primary way poets can help us support the many poetry projects we do on Colorado's Western Slope," said Goodtimes, "with the added bonus that one might win a prize. We also offer feedback on submissions, if desired."

GIVING CLUB AWARDS $13k TO MRS. CLAUS FOR A CAUSEMontrose Womens' Giving Club

MONTROSE-Christmas just got a little merrier for area children after the Women's Giving Club awarded $13,000 to Mrs. Claus for a Cause at the Nov. 6 Giving Club meeting. Mrs. Claus For a Cause hosts an event on Dec. 16 for local kids where they can pick presents and warm clothing, participate in activities, and have a meal and Christmas treats. The event is at Friendship Hall from 10am – 5pm and is open to all, with a similar event on the 17th of December for those with special needs. The organization can be reached at 800-231-0609 or at mrsclausforacause@yahoo.com to answer any questions.

Other groups that were chosen to make a presentation at the Giving Club meeting were Cobble Creek Angel Tree, represented by Kathy DeVor, and Maslow Academy/Bright Beginnings represented by Lori Sharp.

The Women's Giving Club meets quarterly. All members contribute $100 and the three presenting non-profits are chosen randomly. Members then vote to determine the winner for that quarter. This is an extremely impactful way to give a boost to a local group. All women are welcome to participate in this charitable and social event. The next meeting will be Monday, February 8, 5:30 p.m. at the Bridges. Those interested may contact Phoebe Benziger at 970-209-9598 or phebenator@hotmail.com for more information.
